

GROUP HOMES

IS IT THE RIGHT SETTING FOR ME?

Does the FSW or CIH Waivers not provide enough support/services for you? Is a Nursing Facility not the right setting for you? There is an alternative setting that could meet your needs - Supervised Group Living (SGL), more commonly known as Group Homes.

WHAT ARE THEY?

Group homes are residential homes that support group living for 4-8 individuals per home. Depending on the location, the group home may have a private or shared room.

OVERSIGHT

Each resident in the group home has an assigned nurse who conducts (at minimum) quarterly health assessments and oversees medical appointments, treatments, and medication administration. Regular physicals, dental exams, and vision exams are mandatory. A certified/credentialed QIDP coordinates the person-centered planning for each individual. Additionally, the Indiana State Department of Health surveys each group home annually.

NUTRITION

Group Homes offer residents a registered dietician who completes an annual nutritional assessment and coordinates dietician-formulated menus for the home.

STAFFING

Group Homes provide 24/7 staffing to assist with community access, vocational needs, and ensure residents' health and safety. Staff are thoroughly trained on each individual's specific needs and care plans, including PCISP, risk plans, behavior support plans, and self-care needs.

SAFETY

All staff are trained in first aid, CPR, and Medication Administration certified. This training, in addition to the individual-specific training, program and health oversight, and routine regulatory survey requirements, provides a safe environment for individuals where they can live a healthy life.

INDEPENDENCE

Individuals are guided in personal hygiene, cooking, laundry, shopping, employment skills and other daily living activities to promote independence.
